

Dear Sir/Madam,

From an early age, I have always been fascinated with developing solutions through innovative ways or methods. My proudest accomplishment has been developing my bachelor's thesis under the legal and technical regulatory framework in Spain for the following execution of the project in the Gran Canaria capital.

I have worked in important industrial companies since I graduated from university, through which I have honed my personal skills, and improved my ability to address situations in an high-pressure atmosphere. In fact, in my last job, I have managed teams of around 15-20 workers per project, achieving the company's desired goals.

Although, I have found that industrial engineering is not enough to satisfy professional ambition. Thus, I am eager to change my professional career, and focus on consulting and business strategy.

To meet the demands required by a consulting firm such as yours, I have completed a Master of Business Administration (MBA) at ThePowerMBA online business school, and in addition to this MBA, I have certified more than 150 hours in Negotiation, Project Management, Digital Intelligence, and Leading People by the Harvard Business School Publishing.

I am looking forward to hearing back from you. I can be reached at (+34) 645 953 843 or by adriansantiagofalcon@gmail.com. Thank you for your time.

Yours faithfully,
Adrián Santiago Falcón
